The city is a board. Play on it!

Do you remember the battleship game from your childhood? We hope you have nice memories of it because now you will have the opportunity to play it again – but... in a different way. The city is a board and you, divided into groups, will have a very limited time to search it and find hidden ships and jokers wearing characteristic costumes. You all dream of hearing “hit and sunk!”

○ The game for:

- employees who want to integrate with one another
- teams and groups wishing to improve their cooperation in an unusual, active form
- teams whose priority is to develop their planning skills and strategic management
- large teams wishing to get to know the city in a non-standard manner
- citizens who claim they know everything about their city – we will surprise them!

○ Challenge:

The city is a board and your task is to find the places where we have hidden our ships. Of course, you should do it quicker and more effectively than other teams that are breathing down your neck. It is not enough to move quickly because – as all fans of this game know – strategic thinking, planning your activities and drawing instant conclusions from the information you obtain are far more important. Acting as a team, equipped with the communication system and supported by bikes, roller-blades and scooters, you have everything to reproduce the mother-map within 3 hours. All the ships are marked on it. The question is which team wins...

○ Logistics:

- the area of the game is agreed with the customer prior to being conducted
- the game starts at two points simultaneously – the participants are divided into two groups
- Exprofesso provides all the necessary equipment, including the communication system

○ Advantages:

- the opportunity to show your creativity in planning and setting strategies
- a test of your wits, reflex and observation
- improving your skills in observation and drawing conclusions
- learning orienteering
- a lesson of logical thinking
- and first and foremost, good fun and integration

○ Variants / Extensions:

- the game can be conducted in any big city
- the game can also be conducted at night
- employees' families (including children accompanied by adults) can take part in the game
- it is possible to use different sports equipment and means of transport – from bikes to electric scooters and rickshaws
- after the game, you can relax during the workshop in strategic management, time management or effective communication

○ The game through the eyes of the participants:

“I don't believe it. I've been living in this city for 14 years. And it wasn't easier for me than for the girls from Austria”

“We've won, that's obvious. We organised ourselves perfectly. And now you see how important it is.”

In the entire universe there is nothing more changeable than the city, and something that is so changeable cannot be defined once and for all.
